WILLIAM GILSON FARLOW, Class Secretary.
JOHN DAVIS WILLIAMS.

JOHN MARSHALL WHITTEMORE, Jun.

Classmates : —

The following Report has been compiled partly from the answers to my circular, dated March 5, and partly from facts gathered from the papers, or obtained from the friends of those who have failed to write themselves. Less than sixty have returned answers to the circular; and some of the answers were very short, and decidedly indefinite in character. The Report includes what I have been able to learn of all who have been connected with the Class, whether for a short or long time. I have thought best to include in the list of graduating members those who died during the college course. The record of temporary members, imperfect as it is, has been obtained only with great difficulty. Of the numerous inaccuracies of the Report I am willing to bear the blame for a reasonable share, and hope it will be a sufficient excuse to say, that my business for the last three months has left me but very little time for Class-work. A still larger share of blame, however, must fall on those who have failed to write to the secretary.

Our record as a Class, for the last three years, has been one of prosperity. As we meet together at the Class-Supper and on Commencement Day, we cannot but feel grateful that so few of our number have been separated from us forever. Death has visited us but twice; and the names of Briggs and Carpenter are the only ones struck from our roll: Briggs, who passed calmly away before his friends had even suspected that he was very sick; and Carpenter, who more slowly fell a victim to the same dreaded disease, — consumption.

Perhaps in nothing has the Class had better success than in getting married. Our success in that department is unparalleled. Fifteen active and seven temporary members of the Class are already married; and several more, it is said, are about to do likewise. Seven children have been born to members of the Class; and, if the letters which the secretary has received are to be credited, they are all remarkably interesting and intelligent.

I would especially call your attention to that part of the Report relating to the Class-Fund. It will be noticed that the amount of the fund is not so large as that of the two preceding classes, although our Class is numerically greater. The disparity between the size of the Class and the amount contributed is owing mainly to the failure of the wealthy part of the Class to contribute any thing like their proper share. In fact, with two or three exceptions, the wealthy members have not given a cent. Our annual expenses have been less than those of the last class, so that extravagance on the part of the secretary cannot be urged as a cause for the comparatively small amount on hand. The account of the Harvard Fund subscribed by our Class is furnished by Mr. C. E. Stratton, who, with Mr. W. P. Blake, has been appointed to receive contributions for that fund.

Owing to the inability of the secretary to attend to the Class-business during the coming year, Mr. Stratton of the Class-committee has kindly consented to take charge of it until Commencement, 1870. His address will be C E. Stratton, Jr., care of Lothrop & Bishop, 2 Pemberton Square, Boston.

In conclusion, let me express my best wishes for your prosperity during the coming three years; and, at the end of that time, may we all meet again, as this year, to renew the friendships begun in college life, and to rekindle the spark of enthusiasm for our Alma Mater, which may perhaps be dimmed by distance, but can never be entirely extinguished.

Very truly your classmate,

W. G. FARLOW.

Whole number, 132. Number of those who graduated, 104.

Harvard College.

CLASS OF 1866.

SAMUEL APPLETON BROWNE ABBOTT. Born in Lowell, Mass., March 6, 1846.

After graduating, he studied law in Boston, at the office of his father, Hon. J. G. Abbott, was admitted to the bar in July, 1868, and is now practising his profession in Boston. He was married, April 21, 1869, to Miss Mary Goddard, daughter of David Goddard, Esq., of Boston.

Address: 42 Court Street, Boston.

DANIEL PUTNAM ABERCROMBIE. Born in Lunenburg, Mass., January 21, 1844. For a year after graduating, he taught in the Athenæum-Place School, Baltimore, Arthur Clarke, Principal. Since that time he has been living at Monistique, Mich., in the employ of the Chicago Lumbering Co., where he expects to remain for some time longer.

Address: Care of Chicago Lumbering Co., 260 South Water Street, Chicago.

ELISHA DILLINGHAM BANGS. Born at Brewster, Mass., September 29, 1844.

He sailed for Europe on Commencement Day, 1866, in company with his classmates Osgood and Underwood, visited England, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy, and returned in January, 1867. July 4, 1867, the sailing-boat containing fifteen persons besides himself was capsized by a sudden squall, and he was only rescued after being in the water an hour and a half, whilst some of the party were drowned. In December, 1867, he entered the banking-house of Messrs. Tower, Giddings, & Torrey, Boston, where he remained till April, 1869, when he entered into partnership with his cousin, under the title of E. D. & G. W. Bangs, successors to Burnett, Drake, & Co., bankers, Cor. Merchants Row and State Street, Boston.

Address: Care E. D. & G. W. Bangs, Cor. Merchants Row and State Street, Boston.

BENSON BERIAH BANKER. Born in E. Chazy, Clinton Co., N.Y., March 19, 1843.

After graduating, he went to Chicago, and has not written to the secretary since. It is said that he first taught school in Illinois, then went to Louisiana, and settled on a plantation, and afterwards returned to Chicago, and is now supposed to be engaged in business.

Address: Care of Edw. W. Banker, Chicago, Ill.

GEORGE BATCHELOR. Born in Southbury, Ct., July 3, 1836.

He entered college during the Sophomore year, having previously graduated at the Meadville Theological School. September 18, 1866, he was married to Miss Priscilla Cushing Stearns, daughter of Prof. Stearns of the Harvard Divinity School. October 3, 1866, he was ordained and settled as pastor over the Independent Congregational Church (Unitarian), in Barton Square, Salem, Mass., where he still remains. October 31, 1867, a daughter, Edith Batchelor, was born to him; and on December 26, a small but enthusiastic party of twelve members of the Class proceeded to Salem and presented the class-cradle.

GEORGE CONWAY BENT. Born in Boston, July 11, 1844.

After graduating, he accepted a position in the Pennsylvania Steel Works, Harrisburg, Penn., and has remained there ever since.

He has been elected a member of the $\Delta\,\Phi$ society of the Pennsylvania University.

Address: Penn. Steel Works, Harrisburg, Penn.

WILLIAM BLAIKIE. Born in York, Livingston Co., N. Y., May 24, 1843.

After graduating, he studied law in Cambridge until June 16, 1868, when he received the degree of LL.B. While at Cambridge, he also acted as tutor to several young men. He then entered the office of Chandler, Shattuck, & Thayer, 27 Court Street, Boston, where he still remains.

He was made Justice of the Peace, July 16, 1868.

Address: Care of Chandler, Shattuck, & Thayer, 27 Court Street, Boston.

HENRY GORHAM BLAIR. Born in Waterville, Me., November 12, 1843.

He went into business in New York after leaving college, but afterwards removed to Omaha, and went into the drug business, where he still remains.

At Framingham, Mass., November 29, 1867, in St. John's Church, he was married to Lizzie, youngest daughter of Cyrus Blake of Framingham.

Address: Moody & Blair, Omaha, Nebraska.

WILLIAM PAYNE BLAKE. Born in Dorchester, Mass. July 23, 1846.

After graduating, he entered the Law School at Cambridge, where he obtained the degree LL.B. in 1868. He then entered the office of Hutchins & Wheeler, in Boston, where he still remains.

Address: 21 W. Cedar Street, Boston.

HENRY THATCHER BOUTWELL. Born at Hancock, N.H., August 20, 1844.

After graduating, he studied anatomy with Prof. Jeffries Wyman, at Cambridge. In November, 1866, he entered the Harvard Medical School, and May 1, 1869, was appointed House Surgeon to the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, where he will remain for a year.

Address: Mass. Gen. Hosp., Boston.

CHARLES HOLDEN BORDEN BOWEN. Born in Providence, R.I., June 3, 1844.

Since graduating, he has been partly in the office of Minot, Hooper, & Co., Boston, and partly travelling in Europe. He is now a partner in the firm of Borden & Bowen, Providence.

Address: Care of Borden & Bowen, Providence, R.I.

JOHN DOMINIS BREWER. Born at Nuanu Valley, Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, July 30, 1845.

After graduating, he sailed for the Sandwich Islands, and went into partnership with his brother, under the title of Charles Brewer & Co. His father informs the Secretary that he has just visited his son, whom he found well and prosperous, and likely to remain at Honolulu for some time to come.

Address: Care of Chas. Brewer & Co., Honolulu, Sandwich Is.

* JOSEPH EMMONS BRIGGS. Born in Dighton, Mass., April 6, 1842.

Entered college during Sophomore year, from Phillips Academy, Exeter, N.H. After graduating, he was principal of a grammar school at Stafford Springs, Conn., for about three months, meeting with success as a teacher, when his poor health obliged him to resign. In December, 1866, he started for Burlington, Iowa, hoping that the western climate would improve his health. After a short stay in Burlington, he went to Chicago where he pursued the study of medicine, of which he was always an ardent admirer, and to which he had devoted his leisure hours, both in college and while teaching at Stafford. He received the degree of M.D., in March, 1867, at the Eclectic

School in Chicago. His health still failing, he went to Jerseyville in the southern part of Illinois; but, not being benefited by the change, he returned to Burlington, where he died on May 4, quite unexpectedly to his friends, whom he had not informed of his real condition. He was buried from the Brick Church, Dighton, Mass., Sunday, May 12. At a class-meeting held at the Parker House, Monday evening, May 13, E. S. Drone, J. D. Williams, and Moorfield Storey were appointed a committee, and drew up the following resolutions: —

"Whereas, It has been God's will to take from us our classmate, Joseph Emmons Briggs, therefore, —

"Resolved, That we have lost one whose estimable qualities made for him friends wherever he made acquaintances; who by his honest purpose, his pure character, his frank and genial disposition, won, while in college, the confidence of his instructors, the affection and esteem of his fellow-students; whose industrious habits, unquestioned talents, and zeal in his profession, gave promise of a useful future.

"Resolved, That, as a class, we tender our sympathy to his afflicted mother and relatives, assuring them, that, while they mourn for a loved son and brother, we lament the loss of an esteemed classmate; and while it is their consolation, it is our pride, to remember that he lived and died a follower of Christ.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the daily papers, and a copy of them sent to the family of the deceased.

CHARLES BROOKS BRIGHAM. Born in Boston, January 17, 1845.

After graduating, he studied anatomy with Prof. Jeffries Wyman at Cambridge, until November, 1866, when he entered the Harvard Medical School, where he remained until April, 1869, when he was appointed House Surgeon to the City Hospital, Boston. In February, 1868, he received the first prize of the Boylston Medical Society for an Essay on Diabetes Mellitus.

Address: City Hospital, Boston.

NATHANIEL FRANCIS BRIGHT. Born in Watertown, Mass., July 22, 1844.

After graduating, he entered into the employ of Codman, Shurtleff, & Co., Boston, surgical instrument makers. In August, 1868, he became book-keeper for Rockwell Brothers, commission merchants for the sale of flour and grain, 46 and 48 North Street, Boston. His residence is in Cambridge.

Address: Care of Codman & Shurtleff, Boston.

FREDERICK JOHN BROWN. Born in Baltimore, March 11, 1846.

December 23, 1866, he went to Europe, and spent three months and a half in travelling through Italy, France, and England, returning April 28. He then became clerk in the house of Messrs. Sterling & Ahrens, shipping merchants in Baltimore. In March, 1868, he began the study of law in Baltimore, in the office of Messrs. Brown & Brune. In September, 1868, he entered the Harvard Law School, where he has remained till the present time.

Address: Care of Messrs. Brown & Brune, Baltimore.

HENRY FOSTER BUSWELL. Born in Bradford, N.H., March 1, 1842.

After graduating, he taught for a year at Mr. Kilbourn's Academy, in Lancaster, Mass. He then accepted the position of Assistant Professor of Ethics in the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he still remains. He expects to study law during the coming year.

Address: for the present, Annapolis, Md.

EDWARD AUGUSTUS CAPEN. Born in Boston, March 19, 1844.

After graduating, he entered the office of Charles F. Parker & CO., shoe and leather dealers, Boston, where he has remained till the present time.

Address: Care of Charles F. Parker & Co., 106 Pearl Street, Boston,

* FRANCIS AUGUSTUS CARPENTER. Born in Foxboro', Mass., May 26, 1843.

After graduating, he entered the law-office of his brother, Mr. J. E. Carpenter, in Boston. His health, which had not been good in college, grew continually worse; and in June he was obliged to relinquish his studies, and also his position as organist in Rev. Mr. Alger's church. In the fall of 1867, he started for Cuba; but neither the voyage nor the Cuban climate seemed to agree with him, and he immediately returned to his home in Foxboro', where he died, as was supposed of consumption, December 7, 1867. A class-meeting was called on Wednesday, December 11, at the store Mr. J. M. Whittemore, where Messrs. F. A. Harris, J. J. Putnam, and G. E. Littlefield were appointed a committee, and reported the following resolutions: —

Whereas, It has pleased God to remove from our midst our esteemed classmate, Francis Augustus Carpenter, therefore, —

Resolved, That by his death we have lost one whose excellent character and cheerful disposition secured him many friends, and whose industry and perseverance gave assurance of distinguished success in life.

Resolved, That we sympathize deeply with his family in their bereavement, assuring them, that, while they mourn for a son and brother, we lament the loss of a respected classmate.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That a copy be provided the daily papers for publication.

ALBERTSON CASE. Born at Greenport, Suffolk Co., N.Y., July 9, 1843.

After graduating, he studied during two years in the Columbia College Law School in New-York City. He writes that he is at present practising law in Southold, N.Y.

Address: Southold, Suffolk Co., N.Y., or care of Albertson, Darling, & Rose, New-York City.

ALBION CATE. Born in Boston, Mass., November 18, 1845.

He left the class during the latter part of the Senior year, to become principal of the High School, Needham Plains, Mass., but received his degree at commencement. In the fall of 1866, he left Needham, and became an usher in the Dwight School, Boston, which position he held until May, 1867. He then accepted the position of principal of a school at Ilion, Herkimer Co., N.Y., where he remained one a year. He has since been teaching in the Chicago High School.

Address: 552 West Washington Street, Chicago.

GEORGE FREDERICK CHACE. Born in Taunton, Mass., April 14, 1845.

After graduating, he was principal of the High School, Chatham, Mass., for a year. He then taught in the Taunton High School for a year and a half, and afterwards in Spencer, Mass. He is now engaged to teach in Shrewsbury, Mass., for three months.

Address: Taunton, Mass.

* HENRY HARMON CHAMBERLIN. Born June 15, 1845.

Died, 11 July, 1864, in Boston. The class remember but too well the sad death, at the end of our Junior year, of this, the first one of our number taken from us, and than whom no one was more beloved.

EDWARD HENRY CLARK. Born in Cincinnati, July 10, 1843.

Nothing definite has been heard from him for the last two years, except that he resides in St. Louis, and is teaching school there. He is said to be married.

Address: Care of H. F. Clark, St. Louis, Mo.

JOHN CLARK. Born in Boston August 1, 1844.

Since graduating, he has been at the Riverside Press, Cambridgeport, H. O. Houghton & Co., Proprietors. He has published a work entitled "Records of the Descendants of Hugh Clarke of Watertown, Mass.," 1640–1866, with an introductory chapter on "The Clarks of New England," by John Clark, A.B.

Address: Riverside Press, Cambridge, or 43 Pinckney Street, Boston.

THEODORE MINOT CLARK. Born in Boston, August 20, 1845.

After graduating, he went to New York, and accepted the position of usher in the English and Classical School of E. A. Gibbens, Harvard Rooms, Cor. Sixth Avenue, and Forty-second Street. He continued teaching in this school till the present time, but intends devoting himself to the study of architecture this summer.

Address: 43 Pinckney Street, Boston.

JOHN HENRY COPPENHAGEN. Born in Dorchester, Mass., October 8, 1842.

After graduating, he entered into business with the firm of Silas Drew & Co., dry goods dealers, Boston. He is now in business with Howland & Jones (successors to Otis Norcross & Co.), 23 and 24 South Market Street, wholesale crockery dealers. He has been studying commercial and mercantile law a part of the time since he left college.

Address: 23 and 24 South Market Street, Boston.

FREDERICK CROWNINSHIELD. Born in Boston, 27 November, 1845.

He left the class during Senior year, and went to Rome to attend a sick brother. He returned to Boston in 1867, and was married to Miss Helen Fairbanks of Boston, October 27, 1867. He then sailed for Europe, where he has remained travelling till the present time. July 29, 1868, a child was born to him, in Paris named Helen Susette. He is said to be very sick at the present time in Rome.

Address: 13 Lagrange Street, Boston.

EDWARD WALDO EMERSON. Born in Concord, Mass., July 10, 1844.

After graduating, he went into business at Burlington, Iowa; but his eyes began to trouble him, and he returned to Concord. He engaged in agricultural pursuits at Concord and Milton, Mass., until the winter of 1868–9, when he began the study of medicine at the Harvard Medical School. He is spending the summer in Milton, Mass.

Address: Concord, Mass.

GEORGE FREDERICK EMERY. Born in Paris, Me., April 29, 1845.

After graduating, he was engaged in teaching private pupils until June, 1867, when he went to Europe for his health. He returned the following October much improved, and resumed his previous occupation; but his health again failed, and in the summer of 1868 he moved to California, where he has been much better. He writes, "I have gone into the culture of mulberry-trees, silk-worms, and silk; and my partner and I have a ranch of 320 acres, and we are confident of immediate success."

Address: Mission San Gabriel, Los Angelos Co., Cal.

WILLIAM GILSON FARLOW. Born in Boston, December 17, 1844.

After graduating, he studied anatomy with Prof. Jeffries Wyman at Cambridge, until November, 1867, when he entered the Harvard Medical School, where he remained till May, 1869 when he was appointed house surgeon to the Massachusetts Gen-

After graduating, he went into business with his father, of the firm Fenno & Childs, 19 City Wharf, Boston, in which firm he has since become a partner.

Address: 22 Louisburg Square, Boston.

AMOS KIDDER FISKE. Born May 12, 1842.

After graduating, he went to New-York City, where, to use his own words, "the first year I supported myself by teaching private pupils, and dilly-dallied in a wretched state of uncertainty over the question of a future pursuit, meanwhile giving considerable time to general literary study. The second year I supported myself by the pen, and replaced the literary study with the desultory reading of law-books; and a large amount of loafing and cynical philosophizing filled up the intervals." In September, he entered the law-office of Messrs. Sargent & Fay, and was admitted to the New-York bar in November, 1868. He has been employed a part of the time in writing for Appleton's Encyclopædia, and has contributed occasionally to periodicals.

He intends to practise law in New-York City, in partnership with Mr. E. S. Drone.

Address: Care of Sargent & Fay, 9 Nassau Street, New-York City.

Whereas, It has pleased God, in his providence, to remove from our midst Abbott Pomeroy Wingate, —

Resolved, That, while we recognize in this the hand of Him who doeth all things well, we have to mourn the loss of one who, by his habits of close application and devotion to his studies, his uniform success in bearing away the honors accessible to him, his considerate and courteous bearing towards his friends and classmates, has well merited our respect and sincere regard.

Resolved, That, while we consider with feelings of regret our loss, we would not underestimate that of society at large, and more particularly that of the profession to which he had already so assiduously devoted himself, and in which he gave promise of attaining so high a position.

Resolved, That we take this occasion of expressing our profound sympathy with the family and friends of the deceased in their bereavement.

Resolved, That we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased.

COLLEGE FUND.

As regards the "Class Subscription Fund," the income of which is to be devoted to the general purposes of the College, our class, owing to the absence of those originally appointed to canvass for subscriptions, is somewhat behind others. We are called upon for $10,000, to be paid in ten years. Those of the class who have responded to the appeal have responded liberally. $2,930 have been subscribed, of which $400 have been paid in to the treasurer of the fund. These are the contributions of only nineteen men. If the rest of the class will only take up the work in the same spirit, the total amount desired will be easily raised. Let each, in proportion to his means, contribute something, and thus help in some measure to repay his indebtedness to the College.

Subscriptions and money can be sent either to

W. P. Blake, 10 R. R. Exchange, Boston; or to C. E. Stratton, 2 Pemberton Square, Boston.

CLASS FUND.

The following persons have contributed to the Class Fund: — Abercrombie, Bangs, Batchelor, Bent, Blair, Boutwell, Brewer, Briggs, Brigham, Bright, Brown, Buswell, Capen, Case, Chase, J. Clark, Coppenhagen, Curtis, Dabney, Danforth, Derby, Dixon, Emerson, Emery, Farlow, Farnham, Fiske, Fenno, Gale, Gray, E. D. Greenleaf, Gregg, Harris, Haskins, Hawes, Jones. Kettell, O. L. Leonard, Littlefield, Loud, Lovering, McBurney, Murdock, Nelson, Osgood, J. O. Parker, Peabody, Peirce, Perry, Putnam, Robinson, Rolfe, Shaw, Stackpole, F. R. Stoddard, W. P. Stoddard, Story, Stratton, Underwood, Vinton, Watson, Welles, Wheeler, Whittemore, Wilkinson, Williams, E. W. Wright, F. Wright, T. F. Wright, Brinckerhoff, Sargent, Smith, Tower. — 73.

The total amount subscribed was $2,834, which was to be due and payable as follows: —

July 18, 1866	$ 629.00
July 17, 1867	762.50
July 15, 1868	557.50
June 29, 1869	415.00
June, 1870	365.00
June, 1871	80.00
June, 1872	25.00
Total	$2,834.00

In brief, the Class Account has been as follows: —

July 18, 1866. Dr. to Balance from Graduation Expense Account	$ 104.00
Dr. to subscriptions received	434.00
	538.00
Cr. by Class-boat, per Wm. Blaikie	230.00
		$ 308.00
July 17, 1867. Dr. to Subscriptions and Interest	$385.18
Cr. by Expenses of Year	168.36
		218.82
July 15, 1868. Dr. to Subscription and Interest	$405.14
Cr. by Expenses of Year	128.91
		276.73
June 1, 1869. Dr. to Subscriptions and Interest	$105.00
Cr. by Expenses	7.75
Amount on hand		$900.80

Of this sum, $600 is invested in Bonds paying eight per cent interest; $158 pays six per cent interest, and the remainder is in cash in the Secretary's hand. We have sufficient money at interest to pay all expenses except Class-suppers, and even with the sum yet due we shall not have enough; for several hundred dollars more are necessary.
